

Latin Magic Illusionists Win on TV BBC2 Let Me Entertain You

Contributed by Administrator
Tuesday, 19 June 2007

We just received great news from Quinlan's Inside Magic Favorite James Anthony, magician and owner of one of the largest internet based magic shops, www.magicworld.co.uk.
Next Monday, June 18th, BBC2 will air Mr. Anthony and the beautiful Joy Worsley's winning appearance on the hit BBC show Let Me Entertain You.

The couple perform as the magical team Latin-Magic.

For Inside Magic fans in the UK, the show can be seen on BBC2 at 6:30 PM.

Even if you are not a fan of the award-winning Quinlan's Inside Magic, you can still see the show at 6:30 PM on BBC2.

We understand from Mr. Anthony they not only won their heat but also premiered Factor X, a unique and custom built illusion.

Factor X has never been seen on television before. Mr. Anthony's path to the professional ranks of our art, began on ice. He began as a competitive ice-skater and was named British Junior Champion in 1997.

Mr. Anthony developed an expertise in Latin dance and looked for a way to combine the grace of dance and the impact of magic. From this admixture of talents, Latin-Magic formed. Mr. Anthony and Ms. Worsley have performed as Latin-Magic around the globe; and are regulars aboard high-end cruise lines like P&O and Royal Caribbean.

Mr. Anthony performs for corporate functions as well and his clients include British Airways, Xerox, o2, and others. Latin-Magic picked up a tidy £1000 "for lasting the full 3 minutes without the audience buzzing them off."

You can read more about their work, up-coming performance dates, secure bookings, or watch some of their great videos by heading to www.latin-magic.com